Spring pre-season sailing course under development -

While the snow continues to pile up outside, PPSL volunteers are making plans for the 2021 sailing season. A pre-season sailing course is under development to be held at the Carnegie Science Center.

The sailing course, based on US Sailing Association’s “Learn Sailing Right” program, will utilize engaging experiences to introduce new sailors to the basics of sailing. The four-session program is tentatively scheduled to begin in May. Future newsletters will include more details.
